AUGUSTA COLLEGE CAMPUS IN THE FALL

"... on the same view of the metal rusting year. Lemon, amber,
Umber, bronze, and brass, oxblood, damson,
Crimson, scalding scarlet, black cedar,
And the willow's yellow fall to grace."

DEDICATION

We, the students of Augusta College dedicate our
1962 WHITE COLUMNS
To Mr. Percy Wise

Mr. Wise, we ask you to accept this dedication as a symbol of our appreciation for all you do for us now and for all you have done for many years for Augusta College.

We feel that the Greek quotation, which, as you know, comes from a speech of Agamemnon's to Clytaemnestra, and means "God from afar looks graciously upon a gentle master," might so easily have been especially written for you. It is so very apt, and most appropriate.

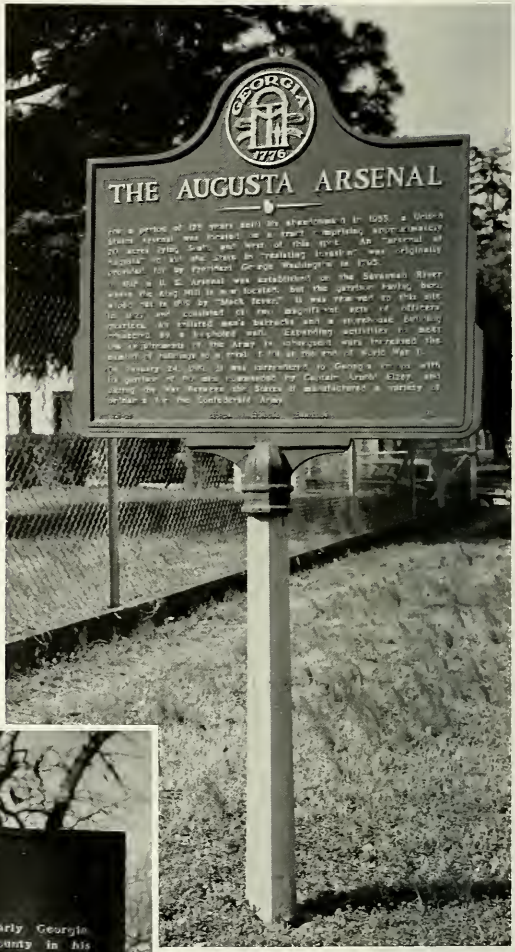
OUR HISTORICAL CAMPUS

Augusta College occupies the site of the old Arsenal. In 1861 the Federal Arsenal was surrendered to the "Independent Republic of Georgia." It had been an arsenal since 1827 and continued until its abandonment in 1955.

Our campus contains Bellevue, the home of Freeman Walker, now the offices of the Student Publications. In 1957 the college, then the Junior College of Augusta, moved here from the Academy of Richmond County.



These markers erected by the Georgia Historical Commission serve to remind students and visitors of our history.

CORDLE DAY

June 2nd, 1961

At the end of the Spring Quarter 1961, one of Augusta College's most loved professors retired from work. Mr. Cordle had taught at Augusta College for thiry-five years. Earlier the faculty had given him and Mrs. Cordle a banquet. At the banquet, Mr. Wallace and Mr. Galloway presented an interesting and amusing series of slides in a program devoted to the Cordle's life history.

June 2nd was declared "Cordle Day" and the historian was feted by the Alumni Association. A buffet dinner was given in his honor on the campus. A vast number of his friends attended and speeches were made by several of his former students and associates including Dr. Hervey M. Cleckley and Mr. George Forbes. Mr. Cordle was presented with a check and Mrs. Cordle was the recipient of a floral arrangement.

KIDS' DAY

Kid's Day provided a lot of fun and strange sights on campus. "Kids of all ages and sizes appeared and while a smaller percentage than usual participated and the "entertainment" was not up to the previous year's standard, those participating seemed to derive a lot of amusement from the proceedings.

Last summer the Business Club held a reception in which was a great success. It was attended by members of the faculty and administrative staff.

THE CHOIR'S CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

Handel's "Messiah" was given in St. John's Methodist Church by the College Choir at Christmas.

A large congregation was present and many extra chairs had to be placed in the aisles and balcony. Dr. Rockholt and the choir received many congratulations on their fine performance.

In the Spring of 1961 the choir made a successful tour to New Orleans and this year the choir toured Florida—another great success.

PUBLICATION DAY
"WHITE COLUMNS
1961"

"White Columns 1961" was dedicated to Mr. Cordle. Following traditions this was kept a close secret. Mr. Cordle, who was not well at the time, was urged by the Dean of Students to come to college for a "short but very important meeting." Our picture shows him taken completely unaware as the dedication is made by Carole Lamp and Joe Shipes, editors.

Distributing the annuals in the Student Center

Two of the members of the 1961 yearbook staff distributing the students' copies.

President Robins shows a copy of last year's annual to Tony Avila, Augusta College's first foreign student. Tony had arrived in this country only a few days previously, having come from Panama. He quickly adjusted himself to his new surroundings and different environment and is now one of the most popular students in College.

REGISTRATION

One of the necessary evils of college life is registration. At our college the waiting around at the various "steps," always a bone of contention among the students, has been cut to an absolute minimum. What delays there are usually happen because of the students themselves. There are always those with no pens or pencils, and those who cannot make up their minds which courses to take.

STUDENT N.E.A. KING OF HEARTS DANCE

The highlight of the spring at Augusta College is always the King of Hearts Dance which is sponsored by the student N.E.A. This year was certainly no exception. A very large crowd attended, and as these pictures show, everyone had a thoroughly good time.

Mike Gibson was crowned King of Hearts for 1962.
